

Dear ORPHEUS members,

ORPHEUS has together with Prof. Björn Hofmann, from the University of Oslo and Prof. Søren Holm from University of Manchester designed a new survey. The survey aims at elucidating attitudes and behaviours of PhD candidates and supervisors when it comes to research integrity issues.

How to access the survey?

If you want to do survey in your institution or even on a larger scale in your country you have to first do the following:

1. Send an e-mail to prof. Hofmann (bjorn.hofmann@medisin.uio.no) who will provide you with a code which is unique to your survey.
2. Prof. Hofmann will then enable you to access the surveys

Here are the links for the surveys for ORPHEUS:

The survey for PhD-candidates: <https://skjema.uio.no/98493>

The survey for researchers and supervisors: <https://skjema.uio.no/98510>

The surveys are available on-line and are in English.

Upon completion of the survey please contact prof. Hofmann informing about the total number of persons who were invited and he will export data for you and provide you with the data together with the instructions on how to process the data, publications that have already been done from this survey, and data collected so far for you to make comparisons.

The data from your institution/country is yours and you can repeat the survey every year or in different institutions in your country.

ONLY ORPHEUS MEMBERS CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS SURVEY.

We encourage you to publish your findings but keep in mind that only surveys where you have managed to get 60% response rate of all respondents to the survey will have a good publication track record.
